

PUBLIC SERVICE RECOGNITION WEEK

MAY 6-12, 2018

We join together during Public Service Recognition Week 2018 to show appreciation to the millions of government employees and military personnel who have dedicated themselves and their careers to helping others.

The jobs of these steadfast Americans span administrations and transcend politics as they address increasingly complex challenges facing our nation. They develop groundbreaking therapies that enable personalized, life-saving medicine. They ensure reliable, affordable energy for our homes and businesses while reducing pollutants that threaten the air we breathe and the water we drink. They defend our shores and borders. They uncover schemes that defraud consumers of their identity and hard-earned savings, and they bring the perpetrators to justice. They bravely put themselves in harm's way to respond to natural disasters. They ensure the safety of our neighborhoods, food supplies and transportation systems. They serve and protect farmers, small-business owners, students, seniors, military families, veterans... that is, all Americans.

Please join us in honoring these men and women who work to keep our nation safe and prosperous. Take time this week, and throughout the year, to say thank you to the public servants you know or meet, and to appreciate the important services they deliver on our behalf every day.
