Office of the Mayor

Proclamation:

WHEREAS, Americans are served each day by dedicated public servants at the Federal, State, County and City levels. These unsung heroes do the work that keeps our Nation moving ahead; and

WHEREAS, Public Service Recognition Week is an opportunity to inform our residents about the quality of people in government and the value of the services they perform, to encourage excellence among public employees, and to promote interest in civil service careers; and

WHEREAS, public service is a noble calling involving a wide variety of challenging and rewarding professions, including providing vital family, health and educational services, maintaining public safety, improving transportation, protecting our environment, and performing management activities which are essential to efficient and effective government operation; and

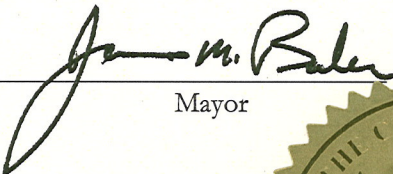

WHEREAS, without dedicated public servants at every level, continuity would be impossible in a democracy that regularly changes its leaders and elected officials.

NOW THEREFORE, I, JAMES M. BAKER, Mayor of the City of Wilmington, Delaware, do hereby proclaim May 1-7, 2011 as

Public Service Recognition Week and ask all citizens to join me in paying tribute to the profession and spirit of public service and to express our deep appreciation for the many contributions public employees make in our daily lives.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my Hand and Seal of Office this 1st day of May, 2011.

Mayor
